

Hey Vanshika,

Need to share something with you, thought you deserve to know. First of all, hawa me udne ki zarurat nahi iske baad... and honestly, I suck in appreciating people. Haven't appreciated anyone in my entire life, and yet here... ohh god why you test me...

You are not going to believe and might say that kuch bhi bol raha hai n all, So I wouldn't say that part. 😏

But the other part - After those worst phase from my past, I thought things were gone forever or lost for forever. Life was so awful before you came, no unnecessary overthinking, no waiting for replies, and definitely no randomly smiling at my phone like an idiot, OR like you say i am Dumb 🤔

Time never really mattered, but now guess you do. But here we are, my life from just living since years to to constantly entertained and weirdly happy. (What i feel good for me). Whatever little happiness I've felt lately, I'd say you pulled me out of the numbness I got way too comfortable with. Honestly, I'd trade my entire day just for a minute with you. And when that day comes, I just hope I can squeeze you in a hug that says everything that my words never could.

So, on this Women's Day, I just want to say thank you—for your wit, your madness, and for somehow making my life better without even trying. Stay amazing (and slightly irritating, as always), stay bossy, stay happy and ofcourse special. Happy womens day...

I thought to make it more better, but you didnt talk to me entire day, Thought ki I would say this all directly over a phone call or video call, 1 -2 minute me sab ho jata 😊 ... BUT, may you need space or may be irritated by something or because of me 😏, or because of work load or could be any reason, because you were giving one word cold replies 😞, could be something I don't want to ask now, jab theek lage batana.

Also I have a fear that how you gonna react, but this is what it is... you dont have to reply or ask or say something, muje laga that you deserve to know this... and bohot himmat karke google keep pe type kiya hai... fatt rahi hai and whatsapp pe nai bhejna chahta tha because I don't want ki baar baar dikhe yeh... and bc bohot bada msg ho gaya...or may be this entire thing will sound cringe to you or pointless. The novel which I am reading currently, had a beautiful line "Bob, if you cant appreciate me, you have to live your entire life carrying a burden".

Also don't have your address (oxygen pg or classic or ssm elite, kuch toh tha), but yes, I would have sent you a gift with this appreciation. Never too late - tell me or buy something nice for yourself on my behalf.

Happy Womens Day...

Dumb (but Smart),

Shashank